and other regulators grounded the global dreamliner fleet for three months due to a battery catching fire. The company and governments then worked together to ensure the safety of the planes before they were allowed to fly again. This incident highlights the importance of safety precautions in aviation.